OVEY — Some battles are fought on the operating table. Such is the story of Peter Dubey, a Legionnaire leading a post way up in God's Country, where the lakes are abundant and the woods are all-around.

He is the commander of Lawrence Lake Post 476. It's a rural post — rural as in not in a city — to the northeast of Grand Rapids. It's in Lawrence Township, and there is a scenic body of water called Lawrence Lake.

Dubey, 39, graduated from Appleton East High School in 2001. If you visit his country home, you find he's a major Green Bay Packers fan.

He joined the Wisconsin National Guard in 2000 because he had a longtime interest in the military. His mother is from Poland, and, as a boy, he often heard of the freedoms they didn't enjoy under communist rule.

His father, an American linguist fluent in Slavic languages, met her in the 1980s when he stopped at an apple orchard while working for the federal government on American-Polish relations. When he was able to stop in, he would leave contraband, such as vinyl records. They wed, and she MRI imagery on Feb. 7, 2011, came to Wisconsin.

its first step into a new arena, American Legion Department of Minnesota Service Officer Jeremy Wolfsteller was introduced to a new audience hungry to learn about the benefits they may be entitled to — or have been previously denied.

On the evening of Friday, Feb. 4, Wolfsteller joined with Regiment Gaming VA Officer @Blackjack DVC more than an hour on Twitch for a Department of Veterans Affairs assistance workshop for military veterans and servicemembers. The pair talked about Regiment Gaming founder/CEO Chris Earl, a U.S. Marine Corps veteran who left the military in 2020, said Regiment's Discord server has a VA health channel that receives around 100 questions weekly about using VA for care and benefits.

"Any kind of question you can think of. Just so many," Earl said. "So, I was like, why not make it a live event and bring on somebody that's probably a little bit more knowledgeable, a little

She described The American Legion as a generous organization. She is now a member of Post 45 and intends to volunteer with the Legion helping other veterans and the community.

"It gives me hope where I thought there wasn't any," Steller said. "I am excited to volunteer to pay it back."

LaCourt, a Navy veteran, said it is the CVSO's role to make connections to where help is available. Knowing resources available with veterans organizations is critical to the job.

Steller shed a few tears and hugged LaCourt and Dvorak.

'That was so amazing,' Dvorak said. "I am so thankful we were able to help her out and get her going in the right direction."

Rob Krautkremer, owner of The Car Lot, said the $4,500 price tag includes the tax and all. He said his dealership typically offers discounts to veterans.

"I do as much as I can to help the veterans," he said.

"That network is already established through the Regiment Gaming community. For The American Legion to partner with such a nonprofit ... and present to them using their platform is just genius. set for the special event.

"This location is for the veterans. We will not depend on the public coming in drinking and eating," said Post 36 Commander Steve Fosness, who this year is the 2nd District commander,

* includes 5 p.m. social hour

For example, the VA had sought telehealth centers. The new post home will have a telehealth room set up with a high-def TV set, cameras and speakers so veterans can speak with VA doctors.

The American Red Cross will use the main room for blood drives. The post home will act as a resource center, with information on how veterans can access benefits and come to American Legion events.

"It's kind of a work in progress," Fosness said.

The first event is March 5, when Post 36 hosts a 2nd District training session by the Department of Minnesota Media & Communications Committee's Kristy Janigo of Osseo Post 172.

So how did this new home come to be? It all goes back to the incredible story of Thomas Jerome Krumholz, who lived in Fairmont until he was 4 years

Fairmont once had one of the largest post homes in the state, maybe even the largest.

At 1101 N. State St., there was the main hall that could seat 850, plus its bar. There was the side hall, seating 450 plus its bar. And then there was the front bar, which could hold 250. There were 38 people on the payroll.

"Our liquor delivery was bigger than the city-owned liquor store," Fosness said. "In its heyday, Fairmont had two liquor licenses — the VFW and Legion. Now there are 32 in town.'

Having a conveyor belt to the basement sure helps.

Talk about old furniture. Post 36 members found a table with "G.A.R." written beneath a drawer and The American Legion emblem on its tabletop. GAR stands for Grand Army of the Republic, a veterans organization of Union soldiers and sailors who served in the Civil War. It is bestknown for its push for veteran pensions and making Memorial Day a national holiday. Five presidents were GAR members. It peaked at 410,000 members in 1890.

"We are very blessed as a

Post 36 purchased 3 1/2 acres of land on the north end of town that future veterans could use for a new post home if they choose,

Fosness said. The land is on the terchange and could be valuable er, is downtown. Post 36 has

The new post home, howevpost," he said.

Post 36 sold the property in 2005. It was just before charitable gambling rules changed to allow the use of funds for building upkeep. The front bar became a Pizza Ranch. The rest is occupied by an agricultural sales company.

Post 36 leased space at 106 E. First St. to operate a restaurant and bar, and it served as the post home. Their time as restauranteurs came to an end in 2016. The space today is the Blazer Bar & Grill. Post 36 began meeting at a rented facility and focused on the Four Pillars.

In 2018, the post learned of a Marine from California who was to be buried in a Fairmont cemetery: Krumholz. Members provided an honor guard.

Two months later, an attorney called and said Krumholz left part of the estate to Post 36, Fosness said. In fact, it was half the estate. The other half was to go to Krumholz's wife.

"What?!" was the general reaction.

The total was $650,000 in cash, with $1.7 million in property.

Since, the $650K has grown to $1 million. Fairmont Post 36 became part owner of a holding company that has property in California and Arizona. Part of its holdings include shares of the Huntington Beach, Calif., waterfront.

Fosness gets reports from the harbormaster on things like how the piers are holding up.

"We turned into a corporation overnight, and it's like, 'Holy mackerel!"

Member Tim Mailahn said there is more. The post is on track to receive the half Krumholz's wife has after she passes.

a five-year lease with the first kitchen called The Shepherd's option to buy at the end of the lease. The location had been a plumbing shop. It can be used for community gatherings, too.

The post is hanging speakers, wall displays such as the Preamble, TV screens and, in the windows, patriotic decorations.

"To me, this is a weird Legion hall," Mailahn said. "You can't come here for lunch."

After the land purchase, from the rest of the funds, the post spends the interest.

"He gave it to The American Legion because he was a veteran. We put the Four Pillars as what we need to give money to," Fosness said. "We gave $46,000 in $1,000 scholarships to students from the five high schools in Martin County."

Post 36 supports trap shooting, softball, baseball, basketball, football and other local teams, and Post 36 has exceeded membership goals the past two years. It donates Hy-Vee grocery store gift cards to local veterans. It helps veterans struggling with problems. One time, they paid for car repairs. Another time, the post helped a veteran catch up on utility bills. A veteran who recently was released from prison fell behind on rent. The post helped him.

The post aids a local soup

In. (Yes, it spells inn like "in.") In addition to nourishment, the place offers temporary shelter.

The Fairmont Area Chamber of Commerce has a program to bring non-teachers to teach about the community and Americansim at local schools. The post sponsors part of that program.

'When we had Veterans Day at the high school, every one of those kids thanked us." Fosness

The post also visits Legion members in area rest homes, giving $50 to their spending accounts three times a year. If they are struggling to pay a Legion membership, the post helps out.

The post typically has revenue from charitable gambling machines, but right now it is searching for a new location to install them.

The new Post 36 home has 3,400 square feet on the main level, with 2,600 for the main meeting space and the rest for offices. Another 3,400 square feet are available in the basement, with a conveyor system to aid with bringing items up and down the stairs.

'We are looking forward to hosting the national commander in our new post home," Fosness said. "It's going to be a special night."

This nondescript building will have windows decorated with American Legion emblems as American flags. It doesn't look like a post, but it will by the end of March.

Legion makes difference on daily basis

Each year, district and department commanders and presidents choose a project to raise money and awareness of a charity or program.

The decision can be easy for some and stressful for others.

My project decision is related to being the department commander and having the honor of promoting and sharing the great things our organization is doing every day. Charity starts at home.

The American Legion has numerous programs and projects that are in need of funding and promoting at national, department, district and post level.

One very important note is that donations go directly to the program or project. Post and district officer elections are coming up fast. Consider stepping up and getting involved in the future of The American Legion.

Post and district members should also be actively promoting the benefits of being 20, at the State Capitol in St. Minnesota.

Mail Call

Send letters to the editor for Mail Call to tengstrom@mnlegion.org.

Editor's note: All letters are the opinions of the writers and not necessarily The American Legion or The Minnesota Legionnaire. We do favor dialogue as key to the American form of government.

There is a serious blood shortage now

This letter to the editor contains information I have come across from the American Red Cross and is pertinent to our mission as Legionnaires:

Donate Blood to Save Lives: There may be different reasons behind the blood requirement of an ill person. Maybe he has met with an accident, has undergone an operation or is suffering from an illness like anemia or cancer. Your donated blood goes on to help this affected person in overcoming his critical situation and regain new life. It symbolizes a helpful and responsible gesture not only to the person in need, but also toward society at large.

Advantageous for the Body: Blood donation is not at all harmful for the body; rather the four or five pints of blood that can be donated every year by both men and women ensures that you remain fit and fine. Firstly, the cell depletion that occurs due to blood donation, forces the body to produce new cells. Plasma, the fluid portion of blood is replenished within 24 hours. Red Cells need about four to six weeks for complete replacement. Secondly, the body is armed against a host of diseases ranging from liver and heart problems to even cancer This benefit comes from depleting extra iron deposits through blood donation. Thus, donating blood is in another way, a step toward revitalizing your body. Thirdly, giving blood is an act of selfless volunteerism, proven to uplift one's psychological well-being. Knowing you are helping others has been shown to have a positive effect on happiness.

Blood Donation is the Sole Way of Obtaining Blood: Blood can neither be artificially produced nor can it be stored beyond a definite time.

Amid the three components of observations, a majority of letblood, plasma can be preserved for years (frozen), red blood cells can be stored for 42 days, and platelets can be kept only for five days. Consequently, the demand for blood is always on the high in hospitals. The only way to meet this critical patient need is through voluntary

Blood drives in your post are very important, and there is a severe shortage with everything going on. This is due to the continuing pandemic, to staff shortages and to an increased need.

Right now, we are facing an emergency blood shortage. Hospital demand continues to outpace donations — your help is vital.

It's important to know that all individuals at blood drives must wear a face mask regardless of vaccination status.

Donors may still donate after receiving a COVID-19 vaccine. Knowing the name of the manufacturer is critical in determining blood donation eligibility.

Letter provides facts and good explanation

Many thanks to you for choosing to print Mr. Bruce Montplaisir's letter to the editor in last month's "Mail Call." It was about U.S. military withdrawals, beginning with Vietnam through the Afghanistan withdrawal last August.

Moreover, I much appreciated his various detailed explanations. That he illustrated his presentation with factual anecdotal evidence and data made his opinion piece both more understandable and persuasive. And this set it apart from, in my ters in various newspapers.

Another crucial value of this letter is how well it calmly and clearly serves as both a response and a reminder to the numerous, strident critics of said recent U.S. withdrawal from Afghanistan.

Let's not argue over way 'Taps' is formatted

After a 20-year career in the military spanning both Army and Air Force, I see repeated challenges within the ranks of The American Legion and VFW posts for that matter. By ranks I mean everyone, and it comes at a cost of alienating members and potential ones.

I also fully support members rights to express their disagreements and suggestions for changes or compromises. Though, at times I see discussions such as the uproar over the new way "Taps" is being displayed in this publication as being time spent unwisely.

Everyone who serves is an equal in my eyes. Whether one has medals or was a past commander is worthy of praise, but it doesn't make someone more valuable than another We all did our respected roles in the military, and we all do today with varying degrees of participation at the posts.

The point of "Taps" is to recognize that we lost a fellow comrade — a comrade who gave service to their country and is being honored in front of all to admire. It's a simple task and a list that I read every month. I look at the ages, period and branch of service and affiliated post. I don't dwell on the continuous years because it doesn't matter to me. What matters is their name.

Power can be found in blessings

If you know an Irish person or have Irish lineage, you might know these benevolent words: "May the road rise up to meet you. May the wind be always at your back. May the sun shine gentle upon your face, the rain fall soft on your fields and until we meet again, may God hold you in the palm of his hand." It is a blessing.

Blessings are more than a hope or a wish; they have influential power.

How many of you still hear positive acknowledgements from childhood? You're such a nice girl; you are good at school; you did a fantastic job today!

Affirmations mold you. These types of blessings inspire hope; increase safety, build trust, and layer on love.

The verbalized written language is comprised of organizing letters into words to express thoughts, ideas, wishes, intent. They can be ordered in a multitude of way. There is power in the syntax.

Written words are not the end of extending a blessing (or a curse). How many of you think in color, music, words or maybe images? Last month our thoughts might have been expressed in colors of white, pink and red. We might have bestowed flowers and chocolates upon another.

Many American Legion posts have yummy steak and shrimp dinner events around Valentine's Day. On Fridays, we are encouraged to wear red to convey are solidarity and support of those in our U.S. Armed Forces.

At the other end of our thoughtful intents are curses. These thoughts pushed out into air are aimed to harm. There is power in the word.

When I recount the curses I have heard throughout my life, not one is lined with blue skies, green pasture and sunshine.

What we think about who we are to God is shaped by our historical religious culture; current belief practice and life experiences.

Is God a source of blessing or cursing for you? What do we want to convey to the world through our words?

When I hear Legionnaires speak, it is apparent we are a hopeful group. Αt

monthly post meetings, the chaplain invokes blessings upon the meeting, those present and the work that we aim to do.

We are an organization founded on communal hope and healing. Blessings heal curses and curses destroy blessings.

I have seen many hug, laugh, hold one another's hands and be present when words are not needed - all blessings. When we come together and recite the precious words of the Preamble: "For God and Country we associate ourselves together," may they always be a blessing to ourselves and others.

Kelley Adelsman of Pine Island is the chaplain for The American Legion Department of Minnesota.

It represents something that I was raised to respect by my parents as a young boy. Memorial Day wasn't just a day - it had meaning. And "Taps" in this publication has the same meaning to me no matter what format.

Let's concentrate on the names and what they represented rather than their medals, awards, office held, or rank while they served, etc.

In the end, we're all the same! At a time when memberships in Legion and VFW posts are declining, let's be aware that change isn't always a must, but at times it's needed to propel survival of the future ranks.

Too many times I see new service members at posts alienated or turned off by "this is how we always have done it."

I learned this the hard way in 2005 as a 42-year-old soldier in Iraq sharing a sleeping space with three 20-somethings. Over time, I also learned to adjust some of my old ways of doing things to better serve alongside the 17- and 18-year-olds I was leading. Hopefully, some of what I taught them becomes part of their career just as the things they taught me as a leader who failed at times.

I salute all of you and especially those listed in "Taps' even in this new format.

Veterans Day on the Hill planned

ST. PAUL —Veterans Day on the Hill is back on track. Organizers say is going ahead for 2022.

April 20 is scheduled for the annual day to rally lawmakers in St. Paul to pass veterans-related legislation. The event is part of the Minnesota Commanders' Task Force. Its 2022 legislative agenda can be found at mnctf.org.

Lunch is slated for 10:30 464-2600 or toolooseto@aol. a.m. Assembly will be at 12:45 com. Skow can be reached at p.m., with the main rally at 1:30

> Trent Dilks, director of legislative affairs for the Minnesota Disabled Veterans of America, said Veterans Day on the Hill is later in the session than the years it was held prior to the pandemic.

> That's because in 2020 and in 2021, though canceled both years, it was going to be permanently moved to April.

> "It is later so it can be more of an event to drive home our legislation. Going too early doesn't have the same effect,' he said.

> Details on the location of the assembly are being worked out.

Suicide prevention is top priority for Legion

National Commander

Paul E. Dillard

To my fellow Legionnaires veterans in Minnesota,

This is a critical time for our organization. A recent report revealed a 15 percent increase in suicide among active-duty troops. Preventing suicide among veterans is a top priority for The American Legion and it should be a top concern for all Americans.

You do not need to be a first responder or a professional counselor to help a veteran in need. You just need to be informed. Please memorize and share the number to the Veterans Crisis Line with anybody whom you think could benefit from it. That's 1-800-273-8255, extension 1. Veterans in crisis can also chat online at VeteransCrisisLine.net or text 838255.

A large and strong American Legion can ensure that our elected leaders in Washington hear our concerns. That means not writing off any generation of veterans. The LEGION Act not only opened our membership to Cold War veterans, but it also tore down walls that may have existed between various war eras. Last summer's events in Afghanistan continue to be the national commander of The particularly hard for many American Legion.

I am extremely proud of the opportunities that The American Legion offers through our job and career fairs. Veterans and their spouses are disproportionately impacted in the job market due to their frequent address changes and other challenges associated with transitioning back to civilian communities.

At its heart, The American Legion is a grassroots community-service organization. The American Legion posts in your department prove it with their constant devotion to our four founding pillars.

I thank you for your service to America and The American Legion. Best wishes for a productive time at spring gatherings.

Feb. 28, 1991, designates the end of Operation Desert Storm. I hope every post has signed up some female or male veterans of that war. As always, they are our future.

March 19, 2003, was the start of Operation Iraq Freedom. There are a lot of younger veteran women and men of that era that should be asked to join also. Go see them.

March 12,2022, is our Department Executive Committee meeting at Forest Lake Post 225. There are very important changes coming.

Have we Legionnaires forgotten our why?

Adjutant's Corner

Mike Maxa

Are we in a permanent full- provide moon phase? The number of reports, phone calls I have received these past few months is staggering on how the posts in the Department of Minnesota are conducting themselves.

Have we lost our way and forgotten how to conduct ourselves under the Preamble, and why we belong to The American Legion?

Last year on our website and social media, we defined a Preamble clause each month, for 10 months. I highly suggest we all review that document and understand what each of those clauses mean to us as Legionnaires, especially the key one about "comradeship and mutual helpfulness."

So why have I sat down to write an article on the phone calls I and some of our officers have received?

We have some post commanders acting like dictators not listening to the membership of their posts. Finance officers are not providing financial reports at post meetings. Executive/ housing committees are making major expenditures without telling membership or seeking their approval. Members are disrespecting the officers of the post, other members and staff.

Staff are disrespecting customers and the officers of the posts. There are reports of illicit and even illegal behavior and, finally, appointing post officers without the knowledge and approval of the members.

The general membership has the final vote and approval on all activities, expenditures and the constitution and bylaws of the post! We are transparent.

How are we going to resolve the problems that are happening in our posts? The post constitution and bylaws are the governing documents for the post and members.

If the post doesn't have one, you need to develop one and the department can help. Post officers are elected by the membership, and they are to adhere to the post, district, department and national constitution and bylaws, and the Officer's Guide.

If and when committees are formed, again the post constitution and bylaws provide the rules on how committees will operate and conduct itself. All committees of the post are to of Minnesota.

documents to the general membership

during post meetings or when asked for by the membership and post leadership, and the documents are made available. No exceptions!

I feel some have forgotten why we belong to The American Legion and the good of The American Legion, and it's not for the bars and restaurants. The business side is a decision made by the post members to fund the good of The American Legion programs and the Four Pillars.

Again, the final say on the business of the post falls on the shoulders of the membership.

Now, your post may have a housing committee, executive committee, or whatever the post calls it, voted in by the membership, to oversee the day-to-day business operations. Committees report to the membership on the financials, issues and major expenditures needing approval from the members.

As you read this, are you starting to see a pattern? Membership and the constitution and bylaws.

We are all veterans, and we all have served to protect this great country of ours. We may not always agree, and it's OK to agree to disagree, but when the vote is cast and counted, we move forward.

After you have stated your position and whether you win or lose, we should be able to get along, respect each other and sit down to enjoy time and conversation with our fellow veterans.

Our country and our politicians are divided enough, and we cannot fall into similar trappings. Legionnaires are the positive influence in our communities, and we need to lead by example. As we conduct ourselves with dignity and respect for each other, I hope our positive actions would influence our politicians, community leaders, teachers, city councils, school boards and our children to do the same.

Respect, catch it!

What's happening?

Look for more details in the April issue of the Legionnaire. Items the CTF is hoping to get passed this year are:

- Increase the state grant given to veterans service organizations.
- Pay a bonus to post-9/11 veterans, much like Minnesota did for veterans of other wars.
- Give property-tax relief to post homes of veteran service organizations.
- Reduce the cost of nunting, trapping and fishing licenses for all veterans, or at least disabled veterans.
- Modify the definition of a veteran to match the federal definition.
- Require county recorders to document discharge papers for all branches of the military.
- Eliminate the two rule for recipients of VA's Dependency and Indemnity Compensation.
- Provided a percentage-based change to the Homestead Market Value Exclusion.

MDVA Update

Larry Herke

During the cold Minnesota to veterwinters, we are reminded of ans who the importance of a warm and are unable safe place to live. Sadly, for hundreds of Minnesota veterans, homelessness has become a way of life.

Since 2014, the Minnesota Department of Veterans Affairs (MDVA) and dozens of community partners have collaborated to effectively end veteran homelessness in our state, with the goal to become the fourth state in the nation to do so.

We have made great progress. Seven of 10 Continuums of Care (CoCs) across the state have already declared an end to veteran homelessness in their communities. These CoCs make up 84 of the 87 Minnesota counties. The most recent was the Central Minnesota CoC that celebrated this milestone in November.

The three remaining CoCs that continue to work toward this goal are Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis counties.

We define effectively ending veteran homelessness as communities adopting a comprehensive response system that ensures homelessness is prevented whenever possible. If it cannot be prevented, homelessness will be rare, brief and a one-time

After seven years, MDVA has learned many lessons that have allowed us to move closer to our goal.

Secure housing where veterans desire to be housed: A crucial step to a successful housing placement is ensuring that veterans find affordable units where they want to live.

Work with local communities and landlords to secure housing: MDVA is working to increase understanding and awareness of our mission and veteran resources available to secure buy-in from the community.

Subsidize housing and services with state and federal resources: MDVA relies on veteran subsidy and grant programs to provide rental subsidies and supplemental wrap-around services to veterans who qualify. In April, MDVA, in collaboration with community partners, will launch a comprehensive program that funds additional rental assistance and services

federal resources

gaps, address barriers by connecting veterans to mainstream resources: Not all veterans on the Homeless Veteran Registry are eligible for all veteran-specific state and federal assistance programs. MDVA seeks to connect veterans with mainstream resources where available.

Stabilize at-risk veterans with additional MDVA programs: MDVA's State Soldiers Assistance Program's (SSAP) Subsistence Program, SSAP Special Needs Grant program and SOAR (SSI/SSDI, Outreach, Access, and Recovery) program provide additional benefits to Veterans who qualify.

Provide incentives for landlords and partners: Lack of available rental units is one of the biggest challenges. MDVA is addressing this shortage by incentivizing landlords to offer a veteran a home.

Align with the statewide "Heading Home Together" plan: This plan uses shared goals, principles and strategies that spur actions to prevent and end homelessness in Minnesota.

Address diversity, equity and inclusion: There is a clear overrepresentation of veterans of color experiencing homelessness compared to the general population of veterans in Minnesota.

Seek legislative support: During the current Minnesota Legislative session, MDVA is seeking new funding for three initiatives:

- Tenancy supports and landlord engagement activities.

on in the state. There are a lot of American Legion Riders chapters doing breakfast, lunch and dinner events to raise money for many different charities and families in need.

Fingers crossed the weather will be getting warmer and I see a lot of rides already scheduled for April and May. We have started planning the Legacy Run and the new Fund 85 run and there will be more details coming out but I can fill you in on a few changes to the Legacy Run.

The Legacy Run will not be the first two weekends of August. It will be Aug 20-23. We are going to try to repeat the very first Legacy Run in Minnesota. With that said, we are asking all districts to do their own runs and during the state run we will stop in every district.

After the run a group of us will be riding to Milwaukee for the 103rd National Convention.

Fund 85 Run will be July 30 starting in St Peter riding up to Hutchinson and back to St. Peter for a meal and entertainment. So we don't imitate the Legacy Run, the Fund 85 run will be a one-day event. Questions on this can be directed to me via phone

Looking forward to better weather and riding season so everyone take care and make sure you have your bikes up and running when the weather permits.

Ted Berg of Bloomington Post 550 is the director of the Minnesota American Legion Riders.

Training for new officers is available

By Michael Ash Training Committee

One of the loudest things we hear today from districts and posts is how hard it is to get participation — whether it's getting new officers or program chairs and members.

There could be a simple reason for it.

For those of you who hold or have held positions in either the district or post, how many of you were trained, mentored or even given a rough outline of what the position you were assuming entailed?

Yeah, I'm guessing about 10 percent, and that's only because I'm a positive kind of individual. I'm also guessing that if you asked what was involved in the job, you got something like, "Don't worry about it. You'll learn as you go." Or, "It's a piece of cake." Or, "Here's the post guide. It gives you all the be adding to it throughout their org/legioncollege.

information you need."

You soon learned those answers were nothing but boloney, and you may have struggled through or you may have just thrown up your hands and said, "I'll carry the title, but do the minimum or less.

And so here we are.

We need well-trained members to carry on the future of this outstanding organization and the training IS available to everyone. Some of the benefits of training include building confidence in our members, boosting their morale and motivation, reducing turnover, making our members into knowledgeable recruiters and making for a more efficient post or district.

It's OK to start off with a preliminary set of instructions, such as a job description and information from the Post/District Guide (remember, it's just a guide), but each position should term to include specific duties that occur and when they happen (such as cut-off dates for turning in reports, etc.).

The Department Training Committee can help. We will train any (or all) of your officers, chairs or members either in-person or via Zoom — just let us know. You can email us at trainingcomm@mnlegion. org. (See ad on Page 2.)

Shameless plug: The Department of Minnesota Training Committee also conducts an outstanding (just ask any of our graduates) Minnesota American Legion College at Camp Ripley. It contains information valuable for all Legionnaires.

This year it will be held from April 21 (late afternoon) through April 24 (late morning). The cost is $200 per student and can (or should) be covered by the post or district. The link to apply is: mnlegion.

Legionnaires and VA questionnaires

Veterans filing for service-connected compensation need to provide very specific information to corroborate a current medical condition and its severity. In 2010, the Department of Veterans Affairs announced issuance of its first three Disability Benefits Questionnaires (DBQs) that would assist collecting that

The VA Schedule for Rating Disabilities (VASRD) found in 38 Code of Federal Regulations Part 4 outlines specific requirements for rating conditions claimed by Veterans. If the required information is not properly recorded during the examination, it could delay the claim while VA goes back to gather the necessary information, or it can lead to VA assigning the incorrect rating percentage. DBQs help prevent this by standardizing and guiding what information is required for each condition per diagnostic code.

In March 2015, VA reported it had increased its DBQs to 80 and covers 15 body systems including, cardiovascular, dental & oral, dermatological, endocrinological, ENT, gastrointestinal, genitourinary, gynecological, hematological & lymphatic, infectious diseases, musculoskeletal, neurological, nutrition, ophthalmological, psychological, respiratory and rheumatological. Within these body systems VA provides a diagnostic code for each condition and then use a DBQ to collect the symptoms and severity required by the diagnostic code to assign the correct rating percentage.

In March 2016, The Department of Veterans Affairs announced the award of twelve statement: major contracts that will enhance its ability to deliver half-way timely disability benefits claims decisions to the nation's Veterans. The contracts make up a $6.8 billion enterprise-wide Medical Disability Examination Program under Public Law 104-275 and represent a major step forward in improving the disability examination experience for Veterans. This was a major shift from VA conducting compensation & pension exams internally to now contracting approximately 90% of them out to vendors like QTC, LHI and

In my opinion, VA created DBQs knowing C&P exams were going to be outsourced to vendors that had little to no understanding of VA laws and regulations when determining on a service-connected disability claim.

This system was designed to make it easier for private examiners contracted by the VA and other private physicians to quickly conduct a disability medical examination and provide specific information on the condition like symptoms and its severity to the VA rating specialist, who could then make a disability rating decision without having to request more information from the examiner.

In April 2020, abruptly removed its public facing DBQ's from its VA.Gov website. It took everyone by surprise especially during the height of the COVID19 pandemic.

VA's released the following process updating all body systems in the VASRD. This is the first complete update of the VASRD since the 1945 Schedule. As each body system is updated, so are the corresponding DBQs. For DBQs used internally by VA, the updated forms are available immediately.

However, for DBQs available publicly, VA must engage in the formal process required any time a public-facing form is modified, which can take more than a year. This has resulted in outdated forms being available publicly, which can result in a Veteran submitting a DBQ from a private doctor and then being scheduled for a VA C&P exam to gather more information.

The American Legion Department of Minnesota took swift action formulating a resolution which was adopted by National HQ as a position to have VA reinstate public facing DBQs for veterans to access prior to an exam. If an outdated DBO is used VA must accept it. By the end of 2020 congress included language in the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA), that required VA to reinstate public facing DQBs.

About eight months before going to MEPS, Dubey met his wife-to-be: Kailey Simon. His buddy was dating her best friend.

"He was my best friend, so we hung out all the time," Dubey

Intel also appealed because, back in 1984, his father had joined the Army. He was headed to intel, too. MEPS in Milwaukee sent him to Pittsburgh, and there he found he couldn't get in because he was married to a Pole. Poland was on the other side in the Cold War.

ubey went to intel school at Fort Huachuca, Ariz., then the Army assigned him to be stationed at Fort Shafter, Hawaii. Kailey drove his vehicle to Fort Huachuca, and they together drove it to San Diego, where it would be shipped to Hawaii.

There, space was tight. They discovered his rank, which was E-5 sergeant, and lower could not live outside the barracks unless he was married.

They got married on Magic Island in Honolulu on Oct. 21, 2007. They ended up in 500 square feet of housing at Hickam Air Force Base. It was a duplex with a Jack and Jill bathroom and a great view of Pearl Harbor from the backyard.

Dubey worked at U.S. Army Pacific G-2 and did a lot of information engagement with allied militaries from around the Pacific Ocean: Japan, Thailand, South Korea, Singapore, the Philippines and others.

He got to travel to Japan, Korea and the Philippines, too, and he collected many challenge coins along the way. For an E-5 to spend a good deal of time at a major command was good for his career. In 2008, Dubey applied to be a defense attaché.

Attachés serve at embassies around the globe as part of the Defense Intelligence Agency. It's an elite role. They even enjoy diplomatic status and immunity.

He went through the lengthy application, and DIA selected him. However, the Army Military Intelligence Corps would not allow him to go because he had no deployment on his Meanwhile, Gracie, their daughter, was born on Oct. 23, 2009, at Tripler Army Medical Center in Hawaii. It's that famous coral pink Art Deco hospital.

Back at Knox, the MRI revealed a giant cell tumor of the left distal femur. Doctors scheduled a biopsy and a surgery. They used two screws to set a cadaver bone in his knee. However, a miscommunication between the doctor and the therapist resulted in him being in a locked brace for 30 days — not good for his therapy. The two screws began backing out.

They opened his knee up again and inserted four screws and what Dubey called a "Cheerio plate" to secure the cadaver bone.

"It looks like a chain of Cheerios," he said.

In March 2011, Dubey found out the 3rd ESC would deploy in April 2012 to the Middle East. He had a year to rehab to get himself is proper shape to deploy. In March 2012, he cleared that hurdle.

When he left, Kailey was pregnant. The couple didn't know the baby's gender yet either. The 3rd was stationed in Kandahar, Afghanistan, for three weeks, then to an undisclosed location outside Afghanistan. Dubey was promoted to E-6 while deployed.

The mission was to provide intel for the drawdown of troops and removal of equipment, such as MRAPs and Humvees. Complicating matters was, for two main southern entries to Afghanistan.

> Dubey went to Walter Reed National Military Medical Center to see an orthopedic oncologist, who agreed with Price's decision.

In 2014, the Army had moved him to a transition battalion. In February 2015, Dubey experienced pain in his leg again. Doctors removed the hardware and found the bone calcified. In his profile, they determined he needed to be near an orthopedic oncologist, but the Army decided he would go to Fort Polk, La., or Fort Drum, N.Y., and neither location offered an orthopedic oncologist within a four-hour drive. He chose Fort Polk for the warmer climate.

After 30 days at Polk, he was sent to Brooke Army Medical Center at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, for a follow-up appointment with an orthopedic oncologist.

A PET scan found a giant cell tumor again had returned to his left knee. It also found additional nodules in his left lung.

Dubey got to experience a biopsy on his lung while he was partially awake, and, during the procedure, his lung collapsed. They found the nodules were ortunately, new technology was out, and it was going to prevent any need for amputation.

On June 22, 2016, at Brooke Army Medical Center at Fort Sam Houston, the doctors cut out all bones from the bottom of his femur to the top of his tibia and fibula and installed an endoprosthesis — like a prosthetic knee attached to his bones.

From there, he did physical therapy at the Center for the Intrepid at Fort Sam Houston. It's a 65,000-square-foot, $50 million rehab center for disabled servicemembers built entirely through private donations.

Peter Dubey's family two weeks before deploying to Afghanistan.

Things were looking up.

"I was reaching for my water bottle, and I heard my leg snap. I even tried to walk it off, but my physical therapist wouldn't let me walk to the hospital. Instead, they put me on crutches," Dubey said.

He had snapped the femur where the prosthetic and bone met. Doctors put him in a wheelchair and decided to let the bone heal as the fracture did not proceed far enough up to the anchor or the prosthetic.

The stabbing pains continued, and, three weeks later, an X-ray revealed a pin had come loose.

The next day, he was allowed to return to Fort Polk for four days to clear for changing his duty station to Fort Sam Houston.

'We had four days to have the movers come and pack and clear the post. Being in a wheelchair in a two-story home was not the most ideal situation on top of the stress of trying to clear the installation," Dubey said. "That put a lot of work on my wife."

During the move, he ended up with a staph infection from the removal of the bad pin.

Surgery again. This time, they replaced the entire endoprosthesis in his femur and gave him seven weeks of antibiotics. He was on 150 mg of prescribed Oxycontin a day and had been on some type of opiate to manage pain for the last six years.

Three months after surgery, Dubey started reducing 10 mg a week and felt the withdrawal impacts for three to four days

'Opiates are powerful, but I only was dependent on them when I was prescribed," he said.

While at physical therapy using an anti-gravity treadmill, the hardware in his knee broke where it was attached to his femur, so now the dosage went back up.

Doctors operated again in March 2017. They extended the prosthesis halfway up his femur into bone not previously touched by metal. It was the 10th and final surgery.

Thirty days later, he read about ketamine's effect on resetting opiate receptors. Each time cells in the body get an opioid, receptors get plugged, so they make new receptors, and it is why patients continually need an increased dosage.

"I had lived in constant fear of being in pain," Dubey said.

At Brooke, he received a ketamine infusion, and he went through five days of treatments and mild hallucinations in the ICU.

During this, Brig. Gen. Jeffrey Johnson, commander of the hospital, and his wife, Paula, visited him and mentioned bringing the Army chief of staff by the next day.

"I had no idea whether I imagined this or not, and I texted my wife to ask Paula if it was real,' Dubey said.

Kailey and Paula knew each other through the Warrior Family Support Center, a Warrior Transition Battalion support facility.

Dubey and his family indeed met Gen. Mark Milley. He still has his challenge coin. Milley is now the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Dubey came out of the ketamine treatment on zero opiates and in less pain.

After six months of rehab, he felt he couldn't be the leader he wanted to be. He couldn't move like he once could. He couldn't even kneel.

"How am I going to ask my soldiers to do something I physically can't do?" Dubey asked.

He decided to pursue a medical discharge, and he left the Army in July 2018, with a 100 percent VA disability rating. During his final year of service, he did an internship with the DEA administration.

"That was really cool. I got to see how they did all their stuff," he said.

Dubey applied to be an intel analyst for the DEA, but he couldn't get a timeline for hiring or training. His family had decisions to make and couldn't wait on the agency's drawn-out hiring process. He and his family were participating in Operation Homefront, a nonprofit that helps servicemembers become financially independent after the military. The organization put the Dubeys in an apartment and paid the utilities, too, while they figured out their next steps.

The program allows a family to stay for 12 months or until the disability rating is determined.

Kailey's father lived in Hibbing, and she scouted the homes in the area. They wanted a place with land. She found a nice one north of Bovey, and in December 2018, they went from the warmth of the San Antonio area to the cold of the Grand Rapids area in northern Minnesota.

ne day, Dubey was speaking with an HVAC guy who invited him to attend an American Legion meeting of Lawrence Lake Post 476. He joined the Legion and the post's honor guard, too. Three months later, they held elections, and he became the commander. He wanted to help change the public's image of the organization.

When I think the Legion or the VFW, I think of old guys in a bar drinking and smoking cigarettes," he said. "I want our Legion to be family-oriented. I think it will help younger veterans get more involved."

It was March 2020, right at the start of the pandemic. He would face a challenge.

The post did not have its own building and met at the local bar, which previously had been owned by the post.

Post 476 now has an agreement in place to join forces with a local snowmobile club, which also has many members of the post and its SAL squadron. The club is building a place along the Don Rudolph Medal of Honor Byway, across from a local gas station. Post 476 will pay to lease space.

"We will have a place to meet, a place where we feel comfortable," he said. "I hope we can host more family functions and community engagement activities at this new building."

Dubey loves helping people and enjoys his role in the honor guard. Lawrence Lake Post 476 is active in many ways, such as the essay contest, scholarships, fishing contests, a big buck contest, Memorial Day ceremonies, Bovey Farmers Day and running a beer garden at the county fair.

He plans to further his involvement and seek a role as vice commander in the 8th District.

I've noticed the whispers around The American Legion posts growing as convention time is right around the corner.

"Hey, whose running for on the big commander, the vices, chaplain" and so on.

• History and organization: This is the why and how The American Legion came into existence after WW I.

 Veterans Affairs & Rehabilitation: Learn how The American Legion is dedicated to compassionate care, timely delivery of benefits, career development and other areas of advocacy for veterans.

6th District

Hello, my friends, these last much in three months have been hectic with me and my family being sick and the darn-old cold weather. But I am here to say we are back to normal and starting to travel again.

Well, I will do membership first. The Great 6th District is working its way to the top of the heep again. We now have six posts at goal and about 20 really close within 10 of reaching their goal. We just need to call, visit and send out those renewal cards. I know some are having fun in the sun down south, but to see that their post is at 100 percent in membership, so give them a call. You will find they are willing to help to achieve this goal.

In my post, we have about five people helping me get this done, and I expect with everyone's help we will be at 100 percent. Go Walker Post 134. I do have a great support system, Thank God.

The district project is still going great. I believe at this $35,000 for Homeless and Wounded Warriors. Emily, I just received a call from them and they are helping veterans and their families.

This is the best project there is and that is veterans. Veterans all over Minnesota are in need of help, and that's what they are about. I want to thank Walker Post 134 Auxillary for its donation last night of 1,134. This was unexpected, but you know

You guys remember Jr. President Chloe Dragon? Well, I was reading the district newsletter, and I was shocked of all The American Legion Posts that gave to her project. At Midwinter, Chloe topped over 4,000 and guess what? It is still growing. She has rocked over 5,900 and still growing. See, it doesn't take much. It just takes a lot of posts that do what they do for veterans, and that is support.

7th District David "Chip" Manson

Hi, District 7!

We're heading into a very important time of our American Legion year, the election of our officers for the coming year.

Traditionally, March is when nomination committees announce their nominations. April is the call for additional nominations and the election of officers, and May is when these officers are installed. (Some post timelines are different. Please check with your post).

Post, district and department elections are the members' chance to set the stage for the coming year. The officers you elect will set priorities and guide the post's efforts in veteran programs, community relationships, and Americanism and youth programs.

At every level of the Legion, new people are vital to our future. New people bring new ideas, different ways of doing tradition-enthusiasm Legion ideals, different personalities presenting programs differently, etc. No matter the size of your post, appealing to veterans in your area is vital to your future.

Many Legion posts keep the same officers year after year. While we understand why this happens, posts that never elect new officers often become stuck in the quagmire of "tradition," never look for different ways to appeal to new members, and members become so discouraged they quit paying dues or attending meetings.

The annual election is your opportunity to change the direction of your post. Are you willing to help your post move forward? Or, better yet, step up and volunteer to help your al activities, new and renewed Legion move forward?

Happy birthday, American in your Legion! The Minnesota American Legion Auxiliary is grateful for your sacrifices, your service, and your continued dedication to serving others.

We are humbled to partner with you in so many of our American Legion Family initiatives and look forward to spending the month of March celebrating you!

I hope our ALA members took advantage of completing the member survey that was put out in February via email and social media by our national organization. You had the opportunity to have your voice heard concerning the national level of our organization and on your unit.

tailor ALA programs and trainbenefits, re-examine recruiting plans, design a marketing strategy, and develop diversity, equity, and inclusion training and awareness programs. The ALA is evolving, and it is my hope that you have played an active role in our guiding our direction.

Speaking of national, we were informed at the national convention last August to look forward to a resolution requesting an increase in membership dues for our members. This request must be voted on by the delegates at the national convention in Milwaukee later this year. This is a national membership dues increase, not a department dues increase, and it is not a done deal yet.

The increase would take effect for the 2023-2024 Auxiliary year if it is passed at the convention. One of the ways we can decrease the amount of the requested increase is to recruit new members. We must get out there!

It's not going to happen from our homes or within the walls of our post home. We need to be visible in our community, be creative, be inviting, and be ALA-branded.

Be prepared by always carrying applications for the entire applicants. This is a call to action for our Minnesota units. March is Community Service month which makes it the perfect time to start networking with other civic organizations Department of Minnesota.

You will be amazed by their enthusiasm and the talent they display. My thanks are extended to our members who stay dedicated to our Junior Activities program. Having been a junior member, the memories you make will last the junior members a lifetime. The Department Junior conference will be hosted by the 7th District in Willmar April 8-9. I asked the attendees at the Sweetheart Rally on Feb. 5 to visit at lunch about what works for their post/unit/squadron to convince renewal, recruitment, and rejoining.

I put a poster on an easel ready for their ideas, but no one stepped up to the poster. As we finished dessert, I asked if anyone had ideas, and a few came to light. They included: recruit across the Legion family, stay enthusiastic, communicate, share responsibilities, and keep asking.

Two more went together and were shared by Minnesota American Legion Riders Director Ted Berg. I understand that he is retired from a job of 19 years. Both his job for those 19 years and our job to work the membership program are alike

Minnesota Girls State to celebrate 75 years

ST. PAUL — ALA Minnesota Girls State will celebrate its 75th anniversary this year. Girls State will be June 12-18, 2022, at Bethel University in St. Paul. All reservations must be submitted no later than March 31, along with the registration fee of $300.

Units will then have until May 1, 2022, to submit the names of the girls being

The first Minnesota Girls State was in June 1947 at the Agricultural Building (4-H) in St. Paul. There were 98 high school junior girls in attendance along with 25 staff members. The registration fee was $30 per girl and that included transportation.

The rental for the 4-H building was $465.65 and the food cost was $622.30 which fed each person for under 75 cents per day! It sure would be nice to have some of those prices today.

The first governor of Minnesota Girls State was Kathryn LeRoy representing Alexandria Unit 87. Kathryn was also fortunate to be selected to represent Minnesota as a senator to Girls Nation in Washington, DC. Kathryn is now Kathryn LaBrasseur, age 91, and is currently serving the Alexandria unit as the membership chairman.

Minnesota Girls State Chairman Sandy Wersal, left, sits with Kathryn LaBrasseur, the first Minnesota Girls State governor. She was elected in 1947.
